

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, September 3. 1717.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Sept. 7.

Rome, August 14.

IT appears that the Pope is in great Confusion upon the Subject of the Spanish Fleet. 'Tis said he had given his Word to the Emperor, that the Spaniards should commit no Acts of Hostility during the Time of his War with the Turks. But 'tis nevertheless believ'd they will make some Attempt either upon Sardinia, or some other Part of the Emperour's Dominions; which occasions a Fear for the Consequences. 'Tis said the Emperour has written to the Pope upon this Subject, and has demanded of him Succours in Money, for maintaining the War against the Turks.

From the Imperial Camp before Belgrade, Aug. 14. The Enemy continues to besiege us, but without making any great Approaches, contenting themselves with Cannonading and Bombarding us. They suffer in their Camp for Want of Forage and Water, and according to the Report of Deserters, many of their Tents are empty. They are obliged to fetch Forage beyond Semendria, but we have Plenty, bringing it in daily by the Bridge over the Save. The Regiments of Maximilian of Staremberg, Bagni, Durlach, Croix, Falkenstein, Palfi, Gronsfeld, Jorger, Vehlen, and Savoy, Dragoons; and those of Herberstein, and Palfi, Foot, suffer most from the Enemy. But on our side we do not spare them, for 20 Cannon of 24 Pound Ball, 10 Culverins, 2 Falconets, 21 Field pieces, 6 Cannon, 4 Obitz, and 12 Mortars, which are placed between the Regiments, make a continual Fire, and very much incommode the Enemy. We are now pretty well cover'd from the Fire of their Cannon. One of their Bombs fell into our Works, where it burst without doing any Harm. 'Tis a strange thing, that at the same time that we besiege the Place, we are ourselves besieged by the Enemy. But in the mean Time, we shall be sooner Masters of the Place than they can be of our Camp, which they cannot approach but by scaling it with Ladders. They were very much surpris'd upon General Merc's taking the Fort on the Donawitz the 11th Instant, [whereof we have formerly spoken.] The Chaloups of our Men of War which are at Anchor to cover our Bridge, have taken a Frigate of the Enemy's of 10 Guns, and four of their Saicks which came near our Bridge have been also taken. The besieged are closely shut up, and there are actually in our Retrenchment on the other side the Save, 30 Pieces of Cannon and 25 Mortars, which batter the Town and Forts continually.

From the Imperial Army before Belgrade, Aug. 20. Yesterday we solemnly sung Te Deum in the Tent of the Grand Vizier, in Thanksgiving for the Victory obtain'd the 16th over the common Enemy. We have begun to level the Lines of Circumvallation, and our Grenadiers have taken Possession of a Gate and the Outworks of Belgrade. The Garrison will march out the 22d. Part by Water to Preslau, and Part by Land to Nissa. The Enemy have quitted Ram and Semendria, as also Saback, upon the Approach of the Adjutant General Petrasch the 17th, leaving behind them 12 Pieces of Cannon, with a great deal of military Furniture, and two Frigates. We found also in the two other Places, (which we could not have taken without heavy Artillery if they had resisted) a good deal of Provisions. We have put Garrisons into all these three Places.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Sept. 7.

Vienne, Aug. 25. We hear from the Army, that Prince Eugene of Savoy, to make Advantage of the Victory, will endeavour to take Bihatz, a strong Place between Croatia and Bosnia, in order to reduce this last Province, so as to put the Imperial Troops in Winter Quarters there, the other Places, as Serail, and Banjalouka, being not strong enough. The Count de Draskowitz who commands in Croatia, has already taken the Fort Calorez upon the Road to Bihatz: But if this last named Place be well provided, so that we must be forc'd formally to besiege it, we shall at first only bombard, and blockade it. The Surrender of Saback, is compris'd in the Capitulation of Belgrade. The Governour of that Fortress made Difficulty of surrendering all the Turkish Shipping there; but the Terror among the Infidels was so great, that he soon found his Endeavours would be useless. 'Tis said that the Sultan, out of Fear of the People's Fury, was himself come to Nizza, where he will rally together the Remains of his broken Army. 'Tis suppos'd that he will soon be glad to propose to the Emperour a Cessation of Arms for 25 Years. And 'tis even imagin'd, that he will not dare to go to Constantinople, for Fear of an Insurrection.

Copenhagen, Aug. 31. We hear from Norway, that 15000 Swedes are upon the Frontiers of Norway, but have undertaken nothing against us. The Confederate Fleet is still under the Island Bornholm, but 'tis thought they will shortly come into the Kioger Bocht, or Bay of Kiow.

Hamburg, Sept. 3. We talk here of some Preliminaries for the Northern Peace, that have been drawn up in France, but as it is not known whether they be authentick, and much less whether they are agreed to or not, they are not yet divulg'd. The Danish Court will go to Frederickstadt by the way of Holum and Toningen, and return back to Sleswick, and determine their Stay there, according to the Czar's Journey. The Magistrates of Dantsick not being able to get any Abatement of the 200000 Rixdollars, demanded by Prince Dolhoruck, have sent a Secretary to the Czar to demand it. In the mean Time the Quarter-Master General Schak has demanded Quarters for 18000 more Russians, who are come from Poland, and two Regiments are come already into the Borders. Swedish Letters of the 17th of August, mention that their King of late is very much alter'd, wearing very fine Cloaths adorn'd with Gold and Silver, and 'tis talk'd as if his Majesty had a Design to Marry, having seen the Picture of a certain Princess and conceiv'd a great Affection for her; and that they understood there is a great Appearance of Peace in the North. His Majesty has commanded all the Iron to be bought up for his Use, and pays for it partly in Money, and partly in State-Bills, by which he will apparently make great Profit. The Czar of Muscovy is expected at Berlin the 9th Instant, but whether the Kings of Denmark and Poland will be there too, as has been talk'd, is uncertain. Here is great Talk about a certain Treaty of Friendship concluded and Ratified, between France, the Czar, and the King of Prussia. We hear from Petersburg, that there are great Differences between the great Men of the Council there, so that the Czar's Presence is very much wish'd for. P. S. By fresher Letters we just now hear, that the Kings of Denmark and Poland will be at Berlin, and that the Duke of Mecklenburg will meet the Czar at Magdeburg or elsewhere. The King of Prussia has offer'd to the Emperour 20000 Men to serve in Italy.

From the Hague Courant, dated Sept. 6.

Amst. Sept. 5. The Czar of Muscovy is gone to Bergen op Zoom, to see the Fortifications of that Place, and afterwards to set forward for the North. The Swedish Minister Baron Spaar, is gone from hence for Germany.

THE Waterworks of the late ingenious Mr. Wintiauly, at the lower End of Piccadilly towards Hyde-Park, will be shown this Evening at 8 a-Clock, and on Wednesday, and Thursday following, which will be the last time of showing this season. It changes every Day, and not always the same, with several Triumphs and Metamorphoses, sometimes like a tempestuous Storm, with Thunder and Lightning, or like Salt Calent, with local burning, and Musick playing. The curious Barrell is always there, and Cupid with Coffee and Tea; with many more Curiousities than can be mentioned, or be express'd but by being seen; to the Expense of some hundred Tons of Water, mingling with Fire, which falls into delightful Cascades. Also his fam'd House at Littlebury in Essex, on the Road to Sturbridge Fair, Berry, Norwich, Lynn, and Yarmouth, is in compleat Order, and both are for the Benefit of his Widow, who (if please God) intends to be at Littlebury on Saturday next.
